Dear AATF Colleagues,

It was a pleasure to see so many of you in San Diego during our 66th Annual Meeting, July 4-7. This year, 1993, marks the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of Saint-Exupéry's Le Petit Prince and the Little Prince himself in regal attire graced the cover of our program. As I pointed out in my remarks at the opening plenary session, the words of Saint-Exupéry still speak to us and remind us of our calling. For those of us who majored in French in school, the French language became our special friend: "notre rose — unique au monde". Now, as we have broadened our horizons, like the Petit Prince who on earth discovered a large garden with hundreds of roses, we have become aware of the multitude of languages and cultures around us, each with its rose-like qualities. And yet, French and Francophone culture have a special place in our hearts, for as the fox would say, "nous les avons apprivoisés". Or to paraphrase the Petit Prince: "La langue française n'était qu'une langue semblable à cent mille autres. Mais nous en avons tait notre amie, et elle est maintenant unique au monde."

To take Saint-Exupéry's challenge one step further, we are called to acknowledge that the well-being of French and Francophone studies in this country depends on each one of us, for as he wrote: "tu es responsable de ta rose". Or, to broaden the call, "nous sommes responsables de notre rose". As teachers of French, we find ourselves the purveyors of the philosophy so poetically expressed by the fox: "On ne voit bien qu'avec le coeur... L'essentiel est invisible pour les yeux... C'est le temps que tu as perdu pour ta rose qui fait ta rose si importante." This is the message that we transmit to our students as we guide them in their own personal discovery of the rose we have come to cherish: "la beauté de la langue française, le rayonnement de sa culture, et les splendeurs richesses du monde francophone."

Highlights of the San Diego Meeting

The AATF Annual Meeting in San Diego began with a Welcome Bar on Saturday evening, July 3, and pre-holiday fireworks over the bay. Some members had arrived earlier to participate in a pre-conference Workshop on French Nonverbal Expression, co-sponsored by the Language Acquisition Resource Center (LARC) at the campus of San Diego State University. The actual AATF meeting with its sessions and numerous exhibits began on Sunday morning, July 4. The Séance d'ouverture focused on French around the world, with an introduction of the new Mititel Service FRANCE MONDE, presented by Régine Thomas and Jean-Pierre Évin of the Ministère des Affaires Étrangères, and a stimulating talk by Philippe Reliquet, Conseiller culturel près l'Ambassade de France, on the topic "La langue française aux États-Unis: les enjeux culturels et politiques". Monsieur Reliquet underlined France's commitment to the promotion of the language and culture of the entire Francophone community, thus setting the tone for the all-inclusive spirit of the convention. He also announced that next year the French Cultural Services would be offering 40 summer fellowships in Dakar for American French teachers who wished to explore projects relating to Sénégal. (For more information, write directly to the Services Culturels de France, 972 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10021.)

The approximately 100 sessions and workshops which spread across the four days of the convention were presented not only by AATF members and exhibitors, but also included guest speakers from Chicoutimi and Quebec City, Toronto and Winnipeg, Paris and Nice, Nancy and Strasbourg, and as far away as Sydney, Australia. Topics ranged from medieval tabliaux to African novels, from culture to...
Work of the Executive Council and the Delegate Assembly

The Executive Council always arrives early at the annual meeting site in order to conduct the business of your association. In San Diego we met on Friday and Saturday for two intensive ten-hour sessions, not counting the various sub-committee meetings that were scheduled evenings and before breakfast. I would like to publicly thank all those who cheerfully participated in this dragonfly marathon, in particular the Regional Representatives who so ably conveyed the concerns of the members of their respective chapters.

On Tuesday morning, the Delegate Assembly, to which each chapter is invited to send its official delegates, heard the reports of the Executive Council and the various AATF Commissions, and ratified a series of motions. (In parentheses, let me add that we hope each chapter will have at least one official delegate at our 1994 meeting in Quebec.)

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

You will be able to read the entire minutes when they are published in a forthcoming issue of the French Review. Let me simply highlight a few points of broad interest:

• Effective this year, the number of national and regional winners of the National French Contest will be increased from the first seven to the first eight places. In conjunction with this decision, the amount of available prize money was also increased.

• At the invitation and urging of Mary de Lopeé, Representative of Region VIII (Southwest), the Delegate Assembly voted to hold the 1995 AATF Annual Meeting in San Antonio. We look forward to working closely with the Texas chapters in the preparation of a stimulating convention.

• Since the responses to the questionnaires regarding the proposed 1996 Annual Meeting in France were split almost evenly between Tours and Lyon, the Steering Committee will be exploring both of these options with the hope that the association might meet in one of the cities in 1996 and in the other at some future date.

• The Executive Council also voted to propose two constitutional changes: (a) that the term of the President be reduced from 6 years to 5 years (one as President-Elect, three as President, and one as Past President), (b) that the Editor of the AATF National Bulletin become a member of the Executive Council.

• The Delegate Assembly voted to continue the AATF Summer Institute in 1994. This June, the first such institute took shape, under the joint sponsorship of the AATF, the French Cultural Services, and Indiana University. In order to support a variety of programs for our members, the AATF voted last summer to establish the Fund for the Future. As you will note on page 12, the Fund for the Future now has two additional categories, Sponsors for gifts from $500 to $599, and Benefactors for gifts above $1000. We would ask you as well as your AATF Chapters to consider making contributions toward this fund which is designed to help teachers improve their language skills and cultural competence. At present, we are also exploring the possibility of short-term AATF Institutes to be held in the various regions around the United States so as to reach members whose personal responsibilities make it difficult for them to travel abroad.

• As you will notice, beginning with this issue of the National Bulletin, France-Journal is generously allowing us to reprint their cultural "dossiers pédagogiques" and has authorized our members to make copies of the insert for classroom use.

• The reports of the various AATF Commissions will be carried in this and subsequent issues of the National Bulletin.

An AATF Presence at the ACTFL Meeting, November 20-22, 1993

We are delighted to announce that, at the invitation of ACTFL, the AATF will be sponsoring six special sessions at the November convention in San Antonio. To AATF members who are also ACTFL members or members of the Texas Foreign Language Association; we look forward to seeing you there and hope you will plan to attend our panels and presentations. Check your final ACTFL program for details!

Looking ahead to Quebec City in 1994

Next summer, we will be holding our Annual Meeting in Quebec City. This promises to be a very exciting and well-attended meeting, so mark your calendars now: July 17-20, 1994! In addition to the many sessions that will be presented by our own members (for guidelines on submitting proposals, see page 3), we will be joined by members of ASEQFLS (Association Québécoise des Enseignants et Enseignantes de Français Langue Seconde) who will offer special presentations and participate in several joint panels. Furthermore, the AATF Program Committee will be working in close cooperation with the Quebec Government, the City of Quebec, the Executive Board of ASEQFLS, and a dynamic Local Hospitality Committee to offer a wide variety of convention activities, workshops, and post-conference tours on the theme: "À la Découverte du Québec". In addition, if there is sufficient interest, we are exploring the possibility of offering a week-long media workshop in Saint-Pierre-et-Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland.

Your input is always very valuable in preparing a successful annual meeting. If you think you might be joining us in Quebec, please take a few moments to fill in the questionnaire on page 5 and send it to me with your responses and suggestions. Merci d’avance!

Best wishes for a stimulating academic year!

Did you know that for ten days immediately prior to the beginning of the AATF Annual Meeting on July 17, 1994, the largest French speaking cultural event in England, Finland, Brazil and Bulgaria. The Festival d'été is a kind of Ed Sullivan Show held in the streets for eleven days, without Mr. Sullivan, of course.

Château Frontenac dominates the Lower City

the Americas takes place in Québec City? The 27th annual Festival d'été international de Québec, which will be held from July 7 to 17, 1994, is in fact one of the world's largest French speaking festivals. This article is an invitation to attend the Festival before the Annual Meeting and immerse yourself in everything that constitutes the Francophone capital of North America and the birthplace of French culture in the New World.

The Festival d'été is an event not to be missed. For eleven days and nights, sometimes starting as early as noon and continuing until midnight, more than 5,000 performances are given by some 15,000 artists from approximately fifty countries. Two major pop music concerts which are free and one classical concert for which admission is charged are held every night. Street performers number in the hundreds. Running concurrently are concerts of popular, jazz, and country music both in large theaters and small clubs. This is truly a gathering of artists from the Francophone world. 1993's special guests were Vanessa Paradis and Charles Trenet, Ray Lema of Zaire and Baaba Maal from Sénégal, giants on the world music stage and seldom seen in the United States, made return visits. Francophone performers came from France, Corsica, Haiti, Switzerland, Algeria, Belgium, New Brunswick, and Ontario as well as Québec. Other stars came from South Africa, Italy, the United States, people who welcome visitors to their heritage, their city and their festival.

The most popular source of entertainment for festival goers of all ages are the street performers. In fact, Québec City is contemplating having street performers all summer long, not only during the Festival d'été. There are acrobats, magicians, clowns, musicians, and performers, both official and unofficial, on virtually every street corner. Some of the more memorable ones from 1993 were David Lichtheim, the cowboy-juggler-robot from Oregon, the acrobatic Duo Calypso from France and Québec, Tom Kubinek, magician and comedian from Ontario, a troop of musicians from Ecuador, and the hilarious Mr. Jones from the Netherlands with his wind-up toy trained pig Fred.

For me, the highlight of the Festival was the music. The concerts I attended in July 1993, will live in my memory forever. There was the great performance of Johnny Clegg from South Africa, the first artist from that country ever to perform with an integrated band, whose songs of power and meaning were tinged with great sadness. Edith Butler of New Brunswick charmed me with her great energy, vitality and musical tales of Acadian, Creole and Cajun history. Michel Rivard's performance lasted until 11:45 p.m., well past the normal closing time, as he sang song after song which made him a legend in Québécois pop music. I was completely surprised by the French group Soldat Louis who seemed to march through their music and gave a rousing version of 'Wild Rover', a classic of Irish folksongs. The Ontarian group Garou, who put traditional French folk songs to modern rock beat, got together for their first performance in ten years and oh what a reunion it was!
Soldat Louis performs

Best of all was to be part of a crowd of 20,000 and to see my favorite Québécois singer, Richard Séguin, perform live at the Soirée de clôture. Evoking the music of Bob Dylan, John Mellencamp and Billy Joel, he delivered songs of charm and grace, sad tales of divorced fathers and parted lovers. The hopes and dreams of the working class in Montréal (dernière la fumée, maisons d’ouvriers, les rêves oubliés, l’autre côté du fossé) were intermingled with up tempo rock tunes and the universal topics of non violence and world peace. Not surprisingly, this was the most popular performance of the Festival.

When you come to Québec City, come for the Festival d’été and bring your friends and family with you. Come for the food and the outdoor cafés. Come for the heritage and history, for the street entertainment, or come for the music. A wonderful time is guaranteed for all. Save two weeks in your travel plans for the Festival and the Annual Meeting. This is an event not to be missed. On departing Québec City two days after the 1993 Festival d’été I felt a real sense of loss. But - through pictures, videotapes, photographs and music memories of the Festival d’été international de Québec will live on in my mind as they will in yours until you visit next time as you surely will because . . . l’été à Québec c’est le fun . . . et la musique.

The first meeting of the Commission on Student Standards was held on July 7 in San Diego at the annual convention. This meeting (attended by Howard Nosnand, Michele Stockley, Liliane Rubin, Sally Magnan and Rebecca Valette) was followed by an open meeting of the commission, attended by six interested AATF members, four of whom asked to join the commission, two of whom asked to be kept informed of our activities.

The opening of both sessions included a brief introduction to the National Standards for Foreign Language Students (K-12) Project which is the most recently funded of the eight educational goals included in the Bush Administration's American 2000 strategy. The National Standards for Foreign Languages has been funded by NEH and the Department of Education, with the goal of developing "world class" standards for student achievement in foreign languages.

The grant, which funds the work on this project, was awarded to a consortium led by ACTFL, AATF, ATG and AATSP. As outlined on the documents distributed at the meeting, the governance structure of this consortium includes a Board of Directors, an Advisory Council, a Task Force with several subcommittees and the representation of the collaborating AATs.

The work of our commission will evolve, in large part, in response to the initial deliberations of the oversight group. We will collaborate with them to:

- provide systematic input and feedback at the draft development stages
- provide a forum for discussion of the draft standards at national, regional and state meetings
- translate, identify and specify ways in which the draft standards apply to teaching of French language and Francophone culture.

Our overall goal will be to gather input for modifying and expanding drafts generic statements from the Task Forces for the purpose of creating a set of specifically French standards which reflect an appropriate balance between proficiency and accuracy of expression at all levels of learning.

Discussion at both the breakfast meeting and members' open meeting focused on the following issues:

1. Expanding membership: names were proposed to provide representation from various constituencies (testing, FLES*, Grand Concours, rural schools, states with standards in place (VA, GA, FLA, KY)). I will be in touch with those whose names were proposed.

2. An emphasis on the need to integrate a strong cultural component into the basic standards work.

3. Compilation and publication of existing standards in French which have already been established by several states (e.g. New York, Conn., N. Carolina, Calif., Texas). This publication should include evaluations of their standards and, where possible, sample tests. Rebecca Valette will pursue this topic, attempting to identify both an individual who is willing to do the compilation and a source of funding for this project.

4. A discussion of the relationship between high school standards and those articulated by the Advanced Placement program and both of these as they relate to the number of years of high school study which should be equated with a year of college language study.

5. Consideration of the relationship between standards of performance in French and cognitive abilities in general. There was general agreement that our standards should somehow be correlated to general performance in English. That is, students should not be expected to do things in French that they may not be able to do in English. (One might ask, for example, if they are unable to read an ad or a schedule in French, are they able to read a map or schedule in English?) This is particularly important from a policy point of view.

6. The ACTFL-AATs WE BELIEVE document was discussed. There was unanimous agreement to urge the oversight board to make the following revisions in the draft statement:

   - All subheadings should read: "capability in second language and culture" (in lieu of second/foreign language ability)
   - Subheading 1 should eliminate reference to "learn in a variety of ways... at various rates..." This should be incorporated into subheading 2
   - Subheading 2 should read:
     Successful second language and culture instruction should form a part of the core curriculum with recognition that individual learning styles are:

     - success oriented

Finally, it was decided that various subcommittees will have to be established in the near future and that I will ask various members of the Commission to participate on these subcommittees sometime in the fall. In the interim, it is important that we identify one person who will be in charge of general dissemination for the commission. If readers are willing to fill this role, please be in touch with me by the end of the summer:

These first meetings represent the initial stages of the commission's work. Within the coming weeks I will attempt to identify the final members of the commission and share their names with the group at large. As additional information is disseminated from the oversight group, I will be in touch with our commission to organize our tasks for the coming year.

DIRECTORY OF FRENCH CULTURE ONLINE
Planning is now underway to produce an electronic directory of online sources of French culture including commercial ASCII services, services on the Internet, and Minitel services. Initial information for the directory will come from Howard Nastand's Databases: Our Third Technical Revolution, available from AATF Headquarters for $10 and from the fiches produced by the Exploration Minitel Award winners. The Directory Of French Culture Online (DOFCO) will be hosted by the John Peace Library at the University of Texas at San Antonio using the library's NOTIS catalog software. DOFCO will have the same powerful searching capabilities as those available for the library's collection. Navigation will be by menu and keyword, and customized help screens will guide users during consultation. Access will be via The Internet, and thus free to all educational users who have accounts subsidized by their home institutions. With the new low-priced commercial access to the Internet via DELPHI and MSC, everyone will have access to this directory at an affordable cost. If you are interested in participating in the development and management of this Directory, please contact Townsend Bowling, Division of Foreign Languages, University of Texas at San Antonio, San Antonio, Texas 78249 (email: tbowling@lonestar.utsa.edu).

MINTEL TUTORIAL SOFTWARE
For an economical way to introduce Minitel into your class, experiment with HyperTel, an offline tutorial familiarizing you and your students with Minitel. HyperTel (for Macintosh only) allows users to become more confident using Minitel services before going online. This HyperCard stack of 250 cards uses authentic French Minitel screens to simulate online sessions. HyperTel, which sells for $24.95, can serve as a basic introduction to Minitel or a comprehensive training tool. This tutorial was developed by Janine Shelly, an experienced Minitel user. Her publication of class materials on the SNCF service appeared in the November 1991 AATF National Bulletin. For more information, contact MiniTeach International, P.O. Box 23605, Des Moines, IA 50325 (telephone (515) 225-5026).

THE INTERNET: USER-FRIENDLY PUBLIC ACCESS VIA MSC AND DELPHI
At long last, the entire universe of The Internet is available to the general public nationwide for a reasonable price and with online guidance and help. The inexperienced newcomer will find menus and explanations to assist in the initial phases of exploration. This new Internet connection, developed by the well known commercial online service DELPHI, provides access to all of the Internet resources including databases, "telnet" rerouting, and "ftp" file transfer as well as e-mail and newsgroups. Educators who do not yet have access to The Internet through their home institutions can now connect immediately through the DELPHI Internet SIG (Special Interest Group) and profit from the added advantage of a user-friendly interface. Those who already have free access but feel a need for training and guidance may find the online help in the DELPHI Internet SIG very useful.

 DELPHI is distributed nationwide via the Tymnet and Sprintnet networks, with local access points in several hundred US cities. Two pricing options are available on DELPHI: both requiring a minimum monthly subscription: the 10/4 plan offers 4 hours for a $10 monthly payment with each additional hour costing $4; the 20/9 plan offers 20 hours for a $20 monthly payment and a $1.80 charge for each additional hour. In addition, there are weekday, daytime surcharges of $9 per hour paid to the networks (Tymnet, 6 a.m.-7 p.m., or Sprintnet, 7 a.m.-6 p.m.). With any communications software and a modem, a user can call 1-800-695-4002 and sign up online (when connected, press RETURN once or twice; at "Password" prompt, type "GUIDE" and press RETURN). DELPHI billing is by credit card.

Minitel Services Company is offering the DELPHI Internet SIG to all regular subscribers just like one of its regular services. The user gains access by typing the service code "INTERNET" at the Minitel welcome screen. The MSC software automatically switches from "Minitel" mode to "VT100" mode (an ASCII terminal emulation) when connected to DEL-
PHI, and then switches back to Minitel mode when the user returns to the MSC welcome screen using the "*" + Index command. The MSC charge of .15 per minute ($9 per hour) may be higher than DELPHI's lowest rates, but there is no monthly minimum and no network surcharge during daytime on weekdays. MSC also offers Super Subscriber Accounts with a 12% discount and direct billing as payment options in addition to credit cards.

WHAT'S NEW FROM MINITEL SERVICES COMPANY?

INTERNET

Many of you have asked for the capability to exchange e-mail between the internet and Minitel. We've gone one step further and are pleased to announce full access to the Internet with JETEL Just type "INTERNET" at the MSC Main Menu and connect for just $.15 per minute. Thanks to DELPHI, one of the country's most popular commercial online services, MSC is able to provide a user-friendly interface to the Internet. And with DELPHI's Internet Special Interest Group you'll have expert support online to help you with information and finding services. In addition to sending and receiving e-mail from all around the world over the Internet, this service also enables French teachers to access other useful Internet functions, such as, LISTSERVERS and USENET Newsgroups, as well as Gophers for menu-guided routing to databases and file transfer (FTP) sites.

If you've discovered any exciting areas on the Internet (there are many...it's just a matter of locating them!), please let us know so we can share it with others. Contact Coco Drummond at MSC (212) 359-0090, fax (212) 359-0129 or send an Internet message to ccdrummond@delphi.com.

And for those of you that have never used the Internet (but have heard so much about it) this may be the easiest way to get started. With navigation commands prompting you at the bottom of each screen, it's easy to use. (The service is presented in the ASCII format, not Minitel version). The Internet is truly an amazing resource, well worth the time to explore.

FRENCH BOOKS AND MORE

Ever find it difficult to order your favorite French books, magazines or tapes? A new Minitel service called FRENCHBOOKS (service code FBI, priced at $.26 per minute) can make your search easy. Order your desired product online, entering your credit card information and the product will be shipped directly to you, usually within two weeks time. All prices are featured in French francs, but there is an approximate dollar conversion online to help you calculate your expenses. FRENCHBOOKS is a must for anyone in the education profession. Don't wait months for those books and magazines, go directly to France and buy them on Minitel.

ENHANCED FEATURES ON NEW MSC SYSTEM

MSC has upgraded its network to provide users improved account management features. In response to teachers' needs, you now have the capability to set a limit on spending so you won't exceed your budget. You can also go online at any point in time and determine the amount that you've spent on (in cases of prepayment) your remaining balance. If you haven't used Minitel in awhile, be sure you contact us to validate your account, as we've assigned new Minitel IDs and issued new software.
PAYMENT OPTIONS
The SUPER SUBSCRIBER promotion is still being offered for teachers. With a prepayment, you'll receive a 12% bonus of online usage. Or if you prefer you can establish a monthly direct bill account (no minimum) and MSC will bill you or your school for your online charges. MSC now offers American Express Card billing, complementing our wide range of existing billing options.
For more information or any of the above, feel free to contact Cece Drummond or Jane Hurchalla at MSC, (212) 399-0080 or fax (212) 399-0129.

NATIONAL PTA CONVENTION WELCOMES FOREIGN LANGUAGE SPECIALISTS

Christine Brown (Glastonbury, CT), Gladys Lipton (Univ. of Maryland/ Baltimore County), and Kathleen Ridan (Springfield, MA) were welcomed at the annual National PTA Convention, held in June in Cincinnati, Ohio. The president at their session was the president of the National PTA, Mrs. Patricia Henry. When Mrs. Henry announced at the end of the session that "your national president personally booked this session," the audience broke out with enthusiastic applause. The three speakers addressed different aspects of the topic: "Children Say Hello to the World," stressing the importance of foreign languages at all school levels, and the need for parents' involvement in successful foreign language programs. The parents in attendance enjoyed a mini-language-learning experience with a short conversation in Russian.

This contact with the National PTA is the beginning of an on-going dialogue between foreign language groups and parents on the national level. The session was well attended, and there seemed to be much interest in the various aspects of the discussion. Supported by ACTFL, AATF and AATSP, the three speakers were able to present convincing arguments as to ways in which parents and educators can achieve the many benefits of foreign language study for all children. There were lively questions about initiating FL programs and maintaining them, despite tight budgets. There were approximately 70 PTA parents, local presidents, and state presidents in the audience, and the participants expressed interest and appreciation for the session.

Some of the follow-up activities include: plans for a foreign language resolution at next year's PTA convention, initiated by one or more states, prior to coming to the PTA convention; plans for another foreign language session at the next PTA convention to describe alternate ways of implementing FL programs; plans for inviting the current and past presidents to FL policy meetings; plans for organizing one or more booths at the next National PTA convention; plans for getting funding to develop a FL packet for each PTA President; and plans for inviting the current and/or past president to speak at a national FL conference.

FLES® GALA
"COMMUNIQUEZ CRÉEZ! CÉLEBREZ!"

Monsieur Claude Kieffer, Attaché Linguistique à l’Ambassade de France, Dr. Gladys Lipton, Présidente de la Commission Nationale FLES® et Dr. François Santelli, Présidente du Chapitre AATF Métropolitain vinrent donner leur appui. Mesdames Saxton et Jensen reléguaient l’audience avec la participation de leurs élèves de jeunes étudiants (Louis XVI en tête, portant le drapeau républicain) qui ouvrirent les festivités en chantant la Marseillaise. Dr. Mary Williams parlait du Sénégal et de la Côte d’Ivoire et fit admirer les costumes et tissus de la région. L’après-midi fut consacrée à une table ronde au sujet de FLES®, dirigée par Anna M. Morelli, Guidance Counselor, Sacred Heart, Hoboken, avec la participation de Dr. Gladys Lipton, Coordinator of Foreign Language Workshops, University of Maryland/Baltimore County; Dr. Jacqueline L. Cusack, Principal, Pierronpy School; Steven Albin, Vice Principal, Pierronpy School; Janis Jensen, Elaine Lubiner, Chef du Département de Langues Étrangères, South Orange/Maplewood Schools, New Jersey. Durant cette discussion, dans une autre salle, les jeunes étudiants furent invités à joindre Diana Hocking qui leur montra comment dessiner des fruits qui bougent et dansent tout en apprenant leurs noms et leurs couleurs. Plus tard, des étudiants de niveau secondaire ont partiellement de leurs expériences au Québec et tous ont visionné avec intérêt Le Balon Rouge.

Pour terminer ce Gala, de nombreux prix ont été décernés par la Délégation du Québec et de nombreuses entreprises françaises et américaines furent l’objet d’une tombola. Organisateurs et participants de ce premier Gala Régional FLES® ont démontré une quantité et enthousiasme qu’il est possible et essentiel de "défendre" et "illustrer" un langue française.

"Un esprit sain dans un corps sain", les Français connaissent. Heureusement que l'été revient. Il nous permet, au moins, de sortir de nos chaînons et nous donne l'illusion que nous sommes un peuple de sportifs. Des sportifs passifs plutôt qu'actifs. C'est bien connu, le Français préfère faire du sport dans son fauteuil et devant son écran de télévision, plutôt que sur les stades. Peu porté à se surpasser dans l'effort, il est néanmoins convaincu que le sport est bon… pour les autres, surtout pour les jeunes. À ce sujet, il est intéressant de mesurer les chiffres issus de sondages sérieux. Sur 100 personnes, 26,2 ne pratiquent aucun sport, 13,4 font du sport d'agrément et au titre de l'hygiène, 41,2 sont des pratiquants à titre individuel et n'ont aucune licence, 8 sont des licenciés et 11,3 font de la compétition. Il est donc plus que jamais nécessaire de bien séparer le sport loisir ou d'agréement et celui qui consiste à se mesurer avec autrui. Donc de faire de la compétition. Avant 1970, un Français sur quatre déclarait avoir une activité un tant soit peu sportive. Aujourd'hui, trois sur quatre, soit près de 74 % de la population, font du sport en général. Et ce sont les femmes qui ont contribué à cette croissance sportive. Spectaculaire également, la pratique sportive chez les plus âgés (65-75 ans). En 1967, on comptait 5 % de pratiquants dans cette tranche d'âge. Aujourd'hui le taux est de 33,5 %. Il est donc moins pertinent d'associer aujourd'hui systématiquement les mots jeunesse et sport. Les pratiques sportives ont investi tous les secteurs de vie : elles sont devenues l'une des principales activités de vacances. Voilà pourquoi, et ce premier mois de l'été, nous avons consacré notre dossier à ces sports loisirs qui font la joie et la santé de nos compatriotes.

QUE FONT-ILS ?

Voici les 36 activités physiques et sportives les plus pratiquées en France. Culture physique (23,6 %), marche (24,9 %), natation (22,5 %), vélo (15,4 %), tennis (12,8 %), course à pied (12,7 %), ski alpin (10 %), baignade et jeux dans l'eau (7,2 %), football (6,8 %), planche à voile (4 %), tennis de table (3,9 %), boulles, pétanque-bowling (3,3 %), danse (3,1 %), équitation (2,8 %), relaxation (2,6 %), ski de fond (2,5 %), volley-ball, vallée (2,3 %), pêche et chasse (2,2 %), basketball (1,4 %), moto et handball (1,3 %), gym médicale (1,2 %), plongée sous-marine (1,1 %), escalade (1 %), canoë-kayak, rafting (0,9 %), aéromodélisme, culturisme, ski nautique (0,8 %), parapente, judo, jiu-jitsu (0,7 %), squash, rugby, tir à l'arc, arts martiaux orientaux et gym sportive (0,6 %).

Nous tenons à remercier, pour leur aimable collaboration à la préparation de ce dossier, le ministère de la Jeunesse et des Sports (Mme Chantal Caron), ainsi que nos confrères de "La Voix du Nord" (Jean-Philippe Marilier), du "Midi Libre" (Dominique Quel), de "Sud-Ouest" (Jean-Louis Etcheto) et du "Républicain Lorrain" (Jean Aussaresses).

Saut à l'élastique

Sport du risque par excellence, le saut à l'élastique est désormais strictement réglementé et ne laisse aucune place à l'amateurisme. Pieds sangleés, debout sur le parapet d'un pont, le plus souvent alpin, le cœur bat à 280 pulsations/minute. Chute libre dans l'air, l'élastique se tend puis vous catapulte en sens inverse, pour s'immobiliser enfin après plusieurs mouvements de va-voa. Impératif : une santé aussi solide que la vôtre.

Deltaplane

Inventé en 1948 par un ingénieur américain, cette aile à voile souple sur une armature triangulaire d'où son nom d'a véritablement... décélé que vers 1975. Comme avec le parapente, on décèle sur ses jambes quel qu'en soit l'air, la condition de disposer d'une pente assez forte, dégagée, et de bénéficier d'un vent de face. A l'atterrissage, un large pré est indispensable aux débutants.

Parapente

Moins cher que le parachute, mais plus excitant, aux ailes de ses protéiformes, le parapente se rapproche d'une montagne d'air ! L'étalonnage d'un sommet avec un parachute de nylon, largement déployé, le parapente exploite, du mieux possible, les courants ascendants, véritable ascenseur permettant de "convertir" l'air. La technique indispensable s'acquiert rapidement en école, en saut bipliciante. Attention à l'atterrissage : 53 % des accidents surviennent à cet instant majeur.

Surf

C'est sans doute l'activité nautique qui présente le plus de difficultés. En 1777 déjà, le capitaine Cook, célèbre marin britannique, commença son entraînement dans son livre de bord, alors qu'il venait de rencontrer les premiers surfeurs Hawaïens. En France, la pratique de ce sport remonte à une trentaine d'années. Ses adeptes se répartissent, pour la plupart, sur les côtes...
Voile : coque ou planche

Aux amateurs de croisières, les quilleurs. Aux plus "modistes", les dériveurs. À chacun sa toile et sa technique. Les clubs de voile forment un bord de mer ou de lacs, la plupart d'entre eux mettent aujourd'hui, à disposition de leurs membres, les famoureuses planches à voile. Si la connaissance de ces vents est toujours requise, la planche à voile requiert, au surplus, de l'équilibre. Débutants, patience !

Plongée sous-marine

Le premier club de plongée français a été créé en 1935. Aujourd'hui, on en dénombre quelque 1 500. Très technique, ce sport ne peut s'apprendre qu'au sein d'un club bâle. Il ouvre alors les portes d'un milieu enchanteur. La plongée nécessite apnéeant, pour le pratique, ou être en parfait santé. Elle est notamment déconseillée aux personnes souffrant des arrêts ou des sinus, de cicatrices, d'asthme ou de problèmes cardiaques.

Canoë-kayak

Le canoë se pratique en eaux calmes, le kayak — à la mode — est plus adapté aux hautes rivières. Les adeptes du kayak sont ainsi des sportifs peu casse-cou, mais privilégiés, qui peuvent apprécier tous les éléments naturels, jusqu'aux rapides et cascades. Attention aux plongeurs : même en été, l'eau des montagnes est souvent bien froide ! Enfin, renseignez-vous : les rivières sont classifiées selon leur degré de difficulté.

Rafting

Du verbe anglais "to raft", conduit un radeau, ce sport, importé du Colorado en 1960, doit ses lettres de noblesse aux grands canyons américains. Le rafting est une discipline exiguant un physique à toute épreuve. Il faut, pour le pratiquer, un solide canal pneumatique à fond souple et gros boudins. La difficulté consiste à maintenir le bateau dans le bon sens en pagayant, tout en évitant les rochers et les chutes.

Canyonning

Pratiqué exclusivement, aux débuts des années 80, par une poignée d'adaptés de la spéléologie, le canyonning, apparu également dans le canyoning, est devenu un sport à part entière, permettant un contact permanent avec l'eau. Consistant en la descente de torrents en soutenant, nageant ou en se laissant glisser le long d'une corde, il demande cependant une condition physique correcte. Une bonne dose de courage !

Halfcourt

Petit frère du tennis et du badminton, cousin du squash, le halfcourt se joue, lui aussi, avec ballu et raquette. Contrairement à ce que son nom indique, il se pratique sur une surface de jeu réduite au quart, et non à la moitié, d'un court de tennis. Le halfcourt en France, c'est plus de 1 100 terrains, 120 clubs et près de 50 000 adeptes. Les matchs se disputent en 2 sets gagnants de huit jeux.

Ski nautique : adresse et réflexes

Sport complet, le ski nautique demande de la force, de l'adresse, de la souplesse et surtout des réflexes.

Tout le monde peut pratiquer le ski nautique. Seule condition expresse : savoir nager ! Sport de plein air par excellence, il procure une incomparable impression de liberté et d'évasion, constituant ainsi un merveilleux exercice de détente. Bien que toujours animées — coût de la traction en hors-bord —, les plages de ski se multiplient. Si vous passez vos vacances sur les côtes, vous n'avez que l'embarcage du choix, de la mer du Nord à la Méditerranée. Mais le ski nautique se pratique également, de plus en plus, sur les rivières et même sur les lieux de villégiature, qu'et il fasse !

Golf :
le "swing" élégant

Le golf monte, monte, monte... aussi haut que la petite balle lorsqu'elle est frappée par l'un de ses champions.

Le golf est un sport qui demande patience et humilité. Amusant pour une discipline où le "truc" est encore très récent, l'apprentissage du "swing" est difficile. Pour être le "putting" de la balle est sommaire, mais direction le "green". Sans oublier la proverbe écossais : "Le golf n'est pas une question de vie ou de mort, c'est beaucoup plus sérieux."

Stuie Cameron, joueur professionnel, a défini le golf comme "un compromis entre ce que vous voulez faire, ce que l'expérience vous dit de faire et ce que vos nerfs vous autorisent à faire". Les qualités requises pour ce sport sont donc patience et humilité. Amusant pour une discipline où le "truc" est encore très récent, l'apprentissage du "swing" est difficile. Pour être le "putting" de la balle est sommaire, mais direction le "green". Sans oublier la proverbe écossais : "Le golf n'est pas une question de vie ou de mort, c'est beaucoup plus sérieux."

le plaisir d'un duo

L'attrait des sports équestres ne se dément pas.

Du manège à la promenade, de l'attelage au polo, se retrouve la même tendresse pour le cheval.

Si l'équitation sédit, toute l'année, petits et grands, ce sport devient encore plus agréable l'été. Les beaux jours permettent un effet de longs départs au gré des chemins, les bisous, la communion avec la nature... De nombreuses possibilités existent, qui combinent monté et à pied, à la ferme ou en ville. Tout cavalier, débutant ou confirmé, devrait trouver son point de chute (1) dans un petit livret pratique, où monter à cheval, élaboré par le Comité équestre, et ramis à jour chaque année. Face aux prix prohibitifs pratiqués par certains clubs, des associations, comme l'UEP, proposent des stages où le cavalier s'occupe de sa monture de A à Z — sauts, nageoire... — et qui nécessitent ainsi moins de personnel.
BRINS DE FOLKLORES

Certaines activités sportives ont une forte connotation régionale. Ainsi la pétanque — et bien qu'on y joue aujourd'hui dans toute la France entière —, le char à voile ou encore la pelote basque. Evocations, ici, de l'accent méridional et du pastis, là, des grandes plages désertes du Nord, ici encore, d'un pays de soleil aux patronymes improronçables...

LA PÉTANQUE, UN SOURIRE À LA VIE

Née du côté de chez Marias, la pétanque a ricoché partout où les hommes cherchaient un sport de détente, à la fois amusant et spectaculaire.

La pétanque est facile d'accès. Les règles sont simples, le jeu peut se pratiquer partout, sur tous les terrains, avec un matériel peu coûteux : l'allée d'un jardin, le fond d'une cour, le bord d'un chemin peuvent être les théâtres de parties ordinairement disputées. Activité physique et mentale complète, la pétanque requiert adresse, intelligence, endurance. C'est l'habileté se combine avec la stratégie, la tension est entretenue par l'abondance des pérécités : aucune partie ne ressemble jamais à la précédente ! On évalue à plus de cinq millions le nombre de joueurs en France, dont 500 000 licenciés auprès de la Fédération française de pétanque et de jeu provencal. De la pratique en famille aux exhibitions rémunérées, en passant par les inoubliables concours, trophées et championnats, la pétanque a désar- mais toutes les caractéristiques d'un sport de masse. Y compris la promotion sociale.

Ainsi, grâce à elle, Marco Fayot, champion hors-pair, a-t-il voyagé dans le monde entier. Ami de Darry Cowl, d'Eddy Barclay, il a remporté, en 1990, le Trophée des parlementaires et du show-biz, associé à un député-maire et à un trésorier du Comité international olympique !

CHAR À VOILE : LA FORMULE 1 DE LA PLAGE

Héritier de l'aéropalage construit par Louis Blériot, le char à voile est né sur les plages du Nord-Pas-de-Calais.

Grisant de vitesse et d'infini, à l'horizon des étendues de sablière, le char à voile attire à lui les amateurs de sensations fortes. Ici, l'engin ne doit rien à un quelconque puis- sant moteur, mais tout à la force du vent et à la célérité du pilote qui sait l'utiliser au mieux. Si des clubs naissent, aujourd'hui, un peu partout le long des côtes atlantiques, le berceau du char à voile est bien le Nord-Pas-de-Calais, où se concentrent le plus des clubs, la Fédération française — installée à Bork-sur-Mer — et surtout les champions. Pour les deux derniers championnats d'Europe, qu'elle a d'ailleurs remportés, Caroline Saint-Venant, de Gravelines, avait un modèle : Bertrand Lambert, le roi de la discipline, à tous les sens du terme. 14 fois champion de France, 10 fois champion d'Europe, 3 fois champion du monde, Lambert doit ce fabuleux palmarès à l'extrême perfectionnisme qu'il met dans la préparation de son char. A ses côtés, les élèves-ingénieurs de l'Ecole Centrale de Paris et son sponsor-employeur, "Sofamar". Des partenaires qui ont notamment permis à Bertrand Lambert d'établir le record du monde de vitesse, en mars 1991, à 151,53 km/h !

LA PELOTE BASQUE, SURVIVANCE DU JEU DE PAUME

Ce jeu traditionnel est une adaptation par les Basques du jeu de Paume, très répandu dans le royaume de France... et de Navarre.

Une des premières inventions basques est le frisbee de place libre. Il s'agit de jouer face au mur, chaque coup frappant alternativement la boule après un seul rebond au sol. Il survivait cependant trois spécialités où les adversaires se font face : le rebat, la laxe et la pasaka. Le jeu des Basques s'était d'abord joué dans les anciens jeux de paume, aux AL nommés aujourd'hui trinquets. Il s'agit de solles couvertes. Plus récemment on a créé des jai alai, grands frontons cou- verts assistés d'un mur à gauche et de fond, intègros aux limites du jeu. On joue soit à main nue, soit avec une raquette et de bois, la paume, soit avec ungrand récep- tacle de cuir ou d'oasie trinqueté, le chistera. Parmi la tronquée de disciplines existantes, la main nue, le chistera, le "poka gabari", la cesta punta, le rebat, la paume, la pa- la...
Il y a en France environ 50 000 praticiens, dont 15 000 licenciés. En Aqui- taine, certes, mais aussi dans le Nord, sur la Côte d'Azur et même... à Saint-Pierre-et-Miquelon ! Au rang des joueurs légendaires, citons Chiquito de Cambac, qui, durant le guer- re de 1914-18, aurait utilisé son chiste- ra pour arroser de grenades les tranches allemandes !
THE CULTURAL COMPONENT OF FOREIGN-LANGUAGE LEARNING APPLIED TO THE FRENCH-SPEAKING WORLD

AN OVERVIEW

The report of the AATF Commission on Cultural Competence, embodying the work of scores of contributors over two years, is expected to be available from the AATF Secretariat in November, thanks in part to assistance in 1992 from the Language Acquisition Resource Center at San Diego State University. LARC will produce the report, and also plans to prepare an all-language adaptation for discussion in a meeting of interested organizations.

The report starts from the national need today for citizens with the ability to negotiate abroad and to resolve ethnic conflicts at home. It claims that the study of a foreign language and culture can make a unique educational contribution because this discipline alone combines the cognitive element (knowledge about), with the affective and behavioral experience of another culture's way of thinking, feeling and acting — provided the experience is pursued in sufficient depth.

Sufficient depth, however, requires a concerted effort of educators, from the early grades through college; and this effort requires, in turn, a consensus on a common core of competence, leaving room for individual interests, which indeed the common experience can stimulate and enhance. The core needs to include not only understanding of main French-speaking areas, but equally essential, the ability to interact nonverbally, an understanding of how to observe and analyze a culture effectively, and finally, the ability to deal with cultural differences in a constructive, empathetic spirit which elicits good will.

The report identifies four task-oriented levels of cultural competence, and defines each level by a set of "descriptors" indicating what the learner can do. The Novice level is one simply of progress toward the Intermediate level, whose educational aim is "the ability to survive in the foreign society" to include a basic understanding in the several aspects of cultural competence. The third level, Advanced, defines a more complete understanding, sufficient for a limited social capability. The fourth level, Superior, assures the capacity to assume socioprofessional responsibility, an attainment which lies beyond the usual undergraduate major program.

At grades K-8, the Novice level calls for a quite separate kind of achievement. This will be the subject of a forthcoming article in the AATF National Bulletin.

The culture areas selected are French-speaking Europe, Sub-Saharan Africa and the Caribbean, North America, and North Africa. For each area the descriptors are grouped, at each level, under the same set of seven features: Sociolinguistic abilities, Themes of the culture, Social structures and symbols, Social institutions, Geography and the environment, History, Literature and the arts.

This organization facilitates the progressive re-entries or "spiralings" of each feature. But the need remains for some over-all organization that will enable the outsider to feel the coherence of the culture as it is felt by those who live it. The surface manifestations one encounters in a culture's social behavior, its customs, its social institutions, and its artistic expression, are unmanageable without some connecting, conceptual structure.

Fortunately, every culture has an inherent infrastructure: a slowly evolving system of values, such as the French individualism, which are colored by distinctive habits of mind and prevalent assumptions about humanity and society. These recurrent elements can be handled as a few main themes of the culture, each with a value at the center.

Research is being designed to validate the presently proposed inventory of themes, as well as the assignment of descriptors to levels of competence, the relative reaction of native speakers to different kinds of nonverbal miscommunication, and other details where consensus requires verifiable evidence.

Consensus is needed only on defining the scope of a core competence and on task-oriented gradations, or levels. In designing strategies for teaching and testing, on the contrary, the strength of the profession lies rather in diversity.

The four levels identified correspond well enough to ACTFL's levels of language proficiency so that teaching can be integrated. As the cultural content becomes the substance of communication in the language, the two components cease to compete for class time. Cultural insights, moreover, make grammar interesting. The interactive relation between culture, the four language skills, and grammar can be visualized as a cube, filled with lines of reinforcement strengthening all six sides.

One obstacle to a purposeful cultural component has been the supposition that it cannot be tested and must therefore remain marginalized. To refute that assumption, fifteen types of test questions were identified which probe beyond the retention of facts, and a work group has improved on that beginning.

The greatest obstacle has been the quite justified feeling of so many language teachers that they have been insufficiently prepared, on the side of the culture, for the unique role our discipline can play in today's education. They want to meet the need, but they do not have ready the available insights, sources of information, nor conceptual tools. The proposed core definition offers a practical focus for both pre- and in-service teacher training and self-education. Workshops are planned, and user-friendly materials are being developed. The Commission will be guided by the responses to the attached questionnaire.

Please send comments, and inquiries about participating in the Commission, to Howard Nosland, 16550 25th Avenue N.E., Seattle, WA 98155.

To help readers understand graphically the substance of this article, the authors have provided a chart, to be found on page 24.

We ask you please to respond to the Questionnaire on the assistance language teachers want in developing the cultural component. It can be found on page 32.
JNCL-NCLIS EXECUTIVE SUMMARY OCTOBER 1, 1992
THROUGH APRIL 30, 1993

• Monitored and reported on the adoption of titles from the Global Education Opportunities Act; changes in programs, definitions and requirements in Title VI; the inclusion of foreign languages into the "core or key" subject categories; and the recognition of foreign languages and literacy as priorities for teacher education in the reauthorization of the Higher Education Act (HEA).

• Worked to include foreign languages, literacy and international education into the numerous versions of education reform legislation. Track over seventy-five bills in the 102nd Congress that related to JNCL-NCLIS' member interests. Prepared information on appropriations for over fifty federal programs.

• Consulted and advised program and legislative staff regarding structural and programmatic changes in the National Security Education Act. Provided information and sought input from the field whenever possible. Draft proposals for pilot programs were provided to all JNCL-NCLIS members for comment.

• Provided draft legislative language and a side-by-side analysis of the Foreign Language Assistance Act for consideration in reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) after meeting with NCSSF and others. Discussed with appropriate JNCL-NCLIS members, other education associations, legislative staff, and executive personnel, possible revisions and changes in other provisions in ESEA such as magnet schools, compensatory education, bilingual education, migrant education, gifted and talented children, and so on.

• Met with representatives of the new Administration and Department of Education to make suggestions for their reform legislation, Goals 2000: Educate America Act which will include foreign languages in its recommendations for core subjects. The importance of recognizing the resource of language minority students and the need for global education was discussed regarding recommendations for the reauthorization of ESEA.

• Continue to provide information to concerned members of the profession and policy makers to alert the possible base closing and realignment of the Defense Language Institute.

• Continue to provide nominations and suggestions to the new Administration of qualified individuals for government positions and service on national boards.

• Completed a summary and analysis of the Administration's budget recommendations for FY 1994, tracking approximately sixty different federal programs and informing the field of the impact of budgetary changes relevant to programs of interest.

• Completed a summary of all the legislation relevant to foreign languages, ESL, bilingual, international education, exchanges and literacy introduced in the 102nd Congress. Provided a legislative update of relevant bills and amendments in the first three months of the 103rd Congress.

• Analyzed, wrote articles, and provided materials on the "Languages for All Peoples Initiative" and its component parts, the English as the Language of Government Act (H.R. 123), tax credits for English language training (H.R. 124), and a Sense of Congress Resolution on language diversity. Staff contacted a number of last year's co-sponsors of H.R. 123 to urge them to reconsider their support.

• Attended every meeting of the National Education Goals Panel, provided copies of the 1992 Report to the JNCL-NCLIS Board of Directors and a summary of the report to all JNCL-NCLIS members. Met with staff and the Executive Director to discuss the importance of languages and international education in Goals 3 and 5 and worked with reform legislation to strengthen those goals.

• Served to provide liaison for the House/Senate International Education Study Group in recruiting a new House Co-chair, Rep. Jack Reed (D-RI) and in creating an executive committee with Sen. Simon and Rep. Dicks. All new Members of Congress were invited to join the Study Group; a newsletter, International Notes, was prepared for circulation to the Senate and House of Representatives, and a new description of the Study Group's composition and activities was developed.

• Attended and participated in meetings of JNCL-NCLIS members: FLAM, WAFLT, PSMLA, NYSAFLT, ACTFL, NCSSF, GSC and NEC. Also, staff helped facilitate individual meetings with policy makers for LSA, MLA, TESOL, NAFSA, and CAL.

• Completed the compilation and writing of the annual state survey on foreign language collaboration and presented it to NCSSF. After consultation with NCSSF and the JNCL-NCLIS Board of Directors, developed the 1993 survey focusing on the relationship between foreign languages, ESL and bilingual education in the states. A final draft is currently being circulated for comment.

• Continued to edit, research and write for EPIC Events, the newsletter of the English Plus Information Clearinghouse. Staff drafted articles and summaries specifically for JNCL-NCLIS member publications, for general dissemination and for outside publications. Information was provided as requested by policy makers and member associations, and requests for information from the media were frequently addressed.

• Planned and developed a Capitol Hill program for National Foreign Language Week attended by approximately 140 congressional staff, executive branch personnel and education organizations. An Information packet was sent with a Dear Colleague letter from Sen. Dodd and Rep. Dicks to every Member of Congress and selected members of the press.

• Administered the office, facilitated board and committee meetings, recruited an excellent intern from Georgetown, and hired a highly competent policy analyst. Continually tracked, analyzed and provided information to members from the Federal Register, Congressional Record, Roll Call, and Congressional Quarterly.

NEH JOINS ELECTRONIC AGE

The National Endowment for the Humanities is now on the BITNET electronic mail system. They can receive and process requests from individuals and institutions for publication and application information more efficiently.

The main goal at NEH is to make grants to individuals and institutions for projects that will further the research, education, preservation and public programs of the Humanities. With the BITNET system, they can assist those individuals and institutions, by decreasing the turnaround time on their requests.

Contact Joyce Evans or Suzanne Volpe at NEHOPA@GWUVM with requests. A listing giving the BITNET addresses for NEH divisions and programs will be published in the November issue of the National Bulletin.
The first AATF Summer Institute in France, which replaces the AATF Summer Scholarship Program of previous years, began with a 10-day orientation from June 28 - July 8 at Indiana University. Twenty-four AATF members, who were selected to participate in the two summer programs in France, worked with a team of specialists to prepare them for their experiences in France. The emphasis of their 10-day session was on intensive programs in language and contemporary culture.

The participants each received an analysis of their spoken French with suggestions for phonetic improvement. Directed by native French speakers, they worked with current material from SCOLA and the print media to enhance communication skills and to understand contemporary issues in France. Lectures on language, methodology, civilization, and current topics in France were given by Isabelle Kaplan, Williams College; Albert Valdman, Indiana University; Jean-Paul Dany, Atchê Cultural Consulat de France a Chicago; Yves Gaudeul, Consul General of France a Chicago; Jean-Pierre Jardel, Universite de Nice-Sophia-Antipolis; Allen Grundstrom, Bucknell University; Michael Berkvam, Indiana University; and Cathy Pons, Indiana University.

Albert Valdman directed the 10-day seminar at Indiana University, along with Amanda Ciccarelli, Assistant Director of Western European Studies, and Cathy Pons, Department of French and Italian. The French Cultural Services, under Claude Kieffer, Atchê Linguistique, Consulat General de France a New York, provided the services of Professor Jardel from Nice. Isabelle Kaplan, Williams College, served as project director for the group going to Auvergne (Auvergne) while Allen Grundstrom, Bucknell University, served as project director for the participants in Amboise (Loire Valley).

Margot M. Steinhart
Vice President
AATF
Chair of AATF
Summer Institute in France
AATF is continuing its 1993 initiative to provide in-service to its members: the AATF Summer Institute in France with a preliminary 10-day seminar at Indiana University. Like the previous summer programs, participants will be directed to enhance their own skills in French and to update their understanding of contemporary France. Unlike other AATF summer scholarship programs prior to 1993, participants will undertake their program in the U.S. and in France and receive six graduate university credits for their work.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
Twenty-four AATF member applicants will be selected to participate in a program of about five weeks, from the end of June to the end of July. The program will begin at Indiana University (Bloomington) for a 10-day orientation to contemporary French culture. It will also include a linguistic component to target specific areas for individual improvement. During their program at Indiana University, the two groups of 12 participants will collaborate to devise a group project of a pedagogical cultural nature to be undertaken in France. Each group will work with a project director, who will also be responsible for assisting in the final phase of the project before it is presented to Indiana University for credit and to the AATF Language Library. The purpose of this project is to provide instructional materials that will be applicable to each participant's teaching assignment. The academic program at Indiana University will be directed by Professor Albert Valdman, Rudy Professor of French and Italian Linguistics at IUs and an AATF Vice-President. Upon successful completion of the entire program, participants will receive 6 graduate semester hours from Indiana University.

AATF is committed to providing in-service to enhance the language skills of members who already demonstrate a high level of competence and to those who need to function at a higher level of competence. Candidates from both groups will be selected for this institute. In order to provide a homogeneous grouping of participants, these guidelines are suggested: Those who are seeking to function at a higher level of communicative competence in French are encouraged to apply for Program 1: La Société française et le monde rural. Those who already demonstrate a high level of linguistic and cultural competence are encouraged to apply for Program 2: La Presse et les Médias. However, all candidates must be able to function at a level appropriate to understanding lectures presented in French at a normal rate of speech and to interacting with native speakers.

Applicants with elementary, secondary or university responsibilities will be applying for one of two types of programs:

Program 1: La Société française et le monde rural Participants will discover how the French function in relation to their primary institutions within two settings that have been traditionally rural: l'Auvergne and le Piémont pyrénéen. Participants will experience these two areas by spending half of their program time in each one. They will also attend a seminar on the environment and the responsibilities of Frenchmen and the challenges and inevitable changes in an agrarian economy. Topics, such as architecture, history and traditions, (Ocitan language, holidays and cuisine), political organization of the land (commune, departamento, region) and education, will be among those discussed.

A weekend en famille, the continual interaction with a French family, as well as opportunities to travel in the areas described are highlights of the program. Participants are housed in la Maison des Volcans, a modern structure which adjoins the Château de St. Étienne in Aurillac. In 1993, the second part of the program used Salies-Salat in Haute-Garonne as the base for exploring Toulouse and the Piemont pyreneen.

The candidate for this stage is one who may or may not have had the opportunity to study or travel extensively in France. The faculty member who is looking to improve his/her communicative skills in French and who is open to exploring a region of France that is outside of the usual tourist's itinerary will profit from this experience. Those who enjoy the out of doors and hiking will have opportunities to explore a mountainous countryside.

Program 2: La Presse et les Médias
This program will focus on the various forms of presentation of information: la presse écrite, la télévision et la radio. Participants will be exposed to a variety of sources of information disseminated in France and will also produce their own materials which can be used to exploit cultural and linguistic goals in their own classrooms. In 1993, the program was centered in Amboise, but another location in the provinces may be selected for the 1994 program, which will again be organized by OLEMI, an agency under the French Ministry, which provides in-service to teachers in France who want to use the media as an instructional tool.

Highlights of the 1993 program included workshops to produce a video or a radio segment on the celebration of the Quatorze Juillet in Amboise. The participants worked with production experts to film and record on location, to interview local participants in the festivities and to complete the post-production. Lectures and round table discussions with journalists and media personnel as well as a late night visit to the daily regional newspaper office of La Nouvelle République brought the participants into the world of journalism and contemporary culture and provoked discussions on the application of media as a teaching tool. Opportunities to visit a number of castles in the Loire Valley were provided.

Both groups of AATF members will be convened on the Indiana University campus and will interact with experts in language and culture. A specialist from France will be sent by the French Culture Services to Indiana University to conduct some of the lectures related to contemporary culture. The participants will be going to France for about a three-week period. They will be sent to one of two centers, one group in Aurillac and the other in the provinces. Applicants are asked to indicate their first choice of program in France: either La Société française et le monde rural or La Presse et les Médias. Consideration will be given to each participant's preference but the selection committee reserves the right to select the center for each participant.

PROGRAM COSTS
This institute will be financed in large part through AATF, the French Cultural Services and Indiana University. Most of the program costs, i.e., tuition, mandatory fees, instructional costs, room and board on the U.S. campus, room and board in France and transportation costs to and from the center in France to Paris will be covered by the sponsoring groups. Participants selected for the program will also bear some of the expenses, i.e., transportation costs to Bloomington, Indiana, and to and from France as well as some meals.

Each participant may receive up to a total of $600 as a direct stipend of reimbursement from AATF:

1) Upon completion of the program and the final evaluation form, each participant will receive $400 to help defray transportation costs.

2) One of the program requirements is that each participant must share what has been learned through the institute experience in a presentation or workshop format. The participant will receive another $100 stipend to help defray expenses. The workshops or presentations should be completed between Fall 1994 and Fall 1995.

3) Those who incur additional expenses to prepare materials for the project to be submitted to the AATF Lending Library may receive up to $100 for these expenses. Receipts are to be submitted.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must be:

- teachers of French currently employed in elementary or secondary schools or in a college or university, up to and including the rank of full professor
- teachers who plan to continue teaching French during 1994-95 and for at least five more years
- U.S. citizens or permanent residents
- members of AATF in good standing, as of January 1, 1994. (Everything else bring equal, preference will be given to applicants who have been members for at least two consecutive years, i.e., since January 1, 1992.)

Applicants may not be:

- current AATF Chapter Presidents or members of the AATF National Executive Council
- recipients of AATF or French Government scholarships within the past five years (1990-1994)
- native speakers of French from any Francophone country. (Exceptions will be made only for those who came to the U.S.A. as children and whose linguistic competence in French cannot be qualified as native or near-native.)
- recipients of other awards for simultaneous summer study or those with any kind of work commitment abroad.

N.B. There is no age limit for application. However, date of birth must be furnished on the application form in order to conform to program requirements.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

The summer institute will be intensive in nature and is designed to be a total immersion of the participants in the French language and culture. As such, family members may not accompany the participant during the program. Participants should be in good health and be willing to accept significant demands on their time and energy level. The program is not designed as a holiday and does not permit much free time. The participants should be prepared to attend all classes and activities and to participate in group projects. Because of the program demands, participants may wish to extend their stay in France beyond the time of the program in order to complete individual and professional projects. The cost of the extended stay is borne by the program participant.

Although most of the expenses of the program will be covered by the three sponsors of the institute, participants are responsible for transportation costs, some meal expenses, and incidental expenses. (In France, beverages are normally added to the cost of a meal.) Because of the unparalleled opportunities to participate in cultural events and to procure materials and books, the participants should budget for these additional costs. While not required, participants are encouraged to consider taking a video camera. All participants should have a camera, several rolls of slide film, a high-quality cassette recorder and a number of blank audio cassette tapes for their program. Before the summer program begins at Indiana University, participants should have read "Les Évidences Invisibles" by Raymond Carroll (Seuil, 1987).

SELECTION PROCESS

In the course of the selection process, the Institute applicant may be asked to participate in a telephone interview in order to assess his/her level of oral communication. This will place the applicant in an informal and unscripted conversation with a member of the selection team. It is an objective of the scholarship program to provide opportunities for our association members to present themselves to their advantage and to reduce the level of anxiety that this on-the-spot interaction might engender. Ranking of candidates will occur in three stages — at the local, regional and national levels. A committee composed of AATF members and a French Government representative will make the final selection.

A number of factors will be weighted in the selection process:

- level of linguistic competence (Candidates with linguistic need as well as those with a high level of proficiency will be selected. See program description.)
- geographical representation
- clarity and specificity of the statement of benefits to the applicant and his/her institution or program
- teaching assignment (number of classes in French and number of students impacted)
- evidence of professional commitment (local, state, regional and/or national)
- future career plans in education
- past travel, study or residence in a Francophone country
- letters of recommendation

APPLICATION

Teachers interested in applying for the 1994 AATF Summer Institute should complete the application form printed in the September 1993 issue of the AATF National Bulletin. Additional copies of the application may be obtained from chapter presidents, regional representatives and AATF National Headquarters.

Applications for the institute will be due on December 1, 1993, to AATF Chapter Presidents.

Applicants should do the following:

1) Complete both sides of the application form, including the signature on page 2, and attach additional pages of the application.

2) Request that two letters of recommendation plus five copies be sent directly to the chapter president. (The letters should come from the principal, dean of department chairman and one from someone who knows the candidate and his/her work well. Since these letters of recommendation are very carefully considered during the application process, they should contain a serious evaluation of the applicant's professional and personal qualities.

3) Include a stamped and self-addressed postcard with the application. (Candidates will receive confirmation that their application and recommendations have been received by the chapter president.)

4) Mail a postcard or note to the AATF Vice President chairing the AATF Summer Institute to indicate that the application form has been sent to the chapter president. (This will help to anticipate individual applications in the selection process.) [Dr. Margot M. Steinhart, Barrington High School, 616 West Main Street, Barrington, IL 60010]

5) Send original plus five copies of the application form and supplementary pages, audio cassette tape, and post

2 diplômes français pour motiver, récompenser et évaluer vos élèves.

Au printemps 1993 s’est tenue aux États-Unis la 3ème session du DELF-DALF. 472 Unités ont été passées par plus de 200 candidats. Le taux moyen de réussite s’élève à 85%. Nous félicitons les candidats qui ont répondu à la question de professeurs qui ont participé à l’organisation et à la correction de cet examen.

RAPEL: QU’EST-CE QUE LE DELF/DALF?

Crées en 1985, le DELF et le DALF sont 2 diplômes de français langue étrangère, officiellement délivrés par le ministère de l’Éducation Nationale. À ce jour, plus de 80.000 unités sont délivrées chaque année dans plus de 70 pays.

Le DELF et le DALF sont des certifications qui valident avant tout le savoir-faire des candidats, sans négliger pour autant leur compétence linguistique. Les épreuves écrites et orales sont basées sur des documents authentiques destinés à évaluer les compétences des candidats tant dans le domaine de la compréhension que dans le domaine de l’expression.

Le DALF dispense du test de langue et permet l’accès à toutes les universités françaises. Ces diplômes intéressent aussi bien les lycéens que les étudiants, sans oublier les adultes en formation ou toute personne souhaitant avoir une reconnaissance officielle de ses compétences en français afin d’étoffer son curriculum vitae.

Le DELF et le DALF sont composés de nombreuses unités indépendantes, donnant chacune lieu à la remise d’un certificat. La première unité peut être proposée à des candidats ayant suivi 100 heures de formation (intermediate-low et ACTFL). La dernière unité s’adresse à des candidats dont les compétences sont d’un haut niveau.

FONDATION FRANCO-AMÉRICaine CHERCHE CANDIDATS POUR UN VOYAGE D'ÉTUDE

L'objet de ce programme est de faire connaître le France contemporaine dont les réalisations sont souvent mal perçues aux États-Unis, dans le domaine de l'enseignement, mais aussi dans les domaines économique et social. Le programme s'adresse aux "US State Coordinators" (ou Supervisors of secondary school foreign language teachers and programs) qui sont les "inspecteurs" du français et des langues latines dans les universités d'État et privées et à ceux qui exercent des fonctions variées dans l'enseignement et la diffusion de la culture française dans leur État.

La durée du programme est de trois semaines. Un séjour de deux semaines est prévu à Paris, avec la visite de lycées, de centres pédagogiques, d'organismes industriels, d'éditeurs de manuels scolaires, de Tribunaux, etc. Ensuite un voyage d'étude d'une semaine est prévu en province avec un séjour dans une famille française.

Les bénéficiaires de cette bourse sont choisis après avis de l'Inspection Générale d'Anglais au ministère de l'Éducation Nationale, de certains membres de l'AATF et de la Direction de la Politique Linguistique au ministère des Affaires Étrangères. La Fondation s'efforce d'élargir le champ géographique du recrutement à travers l'ensemble des États et de maintenir avec les anciens boursiers des contacts pour promouvoir la culture française aux États-Unis.

Le voyage est intégralement à la charge de la Fondation à partir de New York. La Fondation Franco-Américaine apporte l'aide financière de la Direction Générale des relations culturelles, scientifiques et techniques du ministère des Affaires Étrangères.

Si ce programme vous intéresse et vous avez des fonctions d'inspecteur, vous êtes prié de vous adresser directement à Mme France Bursaux, Directeur du Programme, 102, avenue du Maine, 75014 Paris. Envoyez-moi votre lette de demande et votre curriculum vitae.

Nous qui avons déjà bénéficié de ce voyage pouvons attester à combien nous avons profité de ce séjour si riche en enseignements et contacts. C'est un programme rigoureux qui ne permet pas de repos pendant les trois semaines dont chaque minute est remplie d'activités l'une plus intéressante que l'autre. Pour en savoir plus, veuillez prendre contact avec un des plus récents boursiers dont la liste suit.
